

- Breakfast Session -

Find out how one company has set up a successful ergonomics program!

Direct Energy's Joint Health & Safety Committee's (JHSC) Labour and Management co-chairs will talk about their ergonomics program to reduce musculoskeletal disorders (MSD). In this forum, both co-chairs of the JHSC will discuss how Direct Energy's health and safety program managed to:

- Reduce the number of MSD related injuries from being number one on the frequency list down to number three; and
- Lesson learned from their experiences so that other companies can improve their health and safety programs, such as:
 - How did they get worker buy in?
 - How did they get management to pay for the changes?
 - How to change workplace culture to facilitate improvement?

This presentation should be of great benefit to those companies trying to address MSD-related injuries as well as for those who think they are powerless to do anything about them.
